The authors of papers presented at the APCAP2017 conference are encouraged to submit an expanded version of their papers to Open Access Journal EPJ Applied Metamaterials (EPJ AM). Papers related to the topics on metamaterials and their applications in antenna engineering are especially invited for submission.

DEADLINE FOR SUBMISSION IS December 31, 2017

EPJ AM is an open access platform for multidisciplinary researchers to exchange the information on metamaterials with a focus on high impact engineering applications. It also aims to stimulate new fields of metamaterials research beyond traditional topics, foster innovation, and transfer of knowledge with added value. The journal is covered in Emerging Sources Citation Index (Web of Science) and DOAJ (Directory of Open Access Journals).

The submission of the papers will be done by the authors online (<http://www.editorialmanager.com/epjam/default.aspx>) and the peer-reviewing process will be managed by the Guest-Editors with the help of our submission/peer-reviewing system. Authors should choose the section 'Metamaterial Applications to Antenna Engineering' in the submission system. The journal has a 'Pay what you want model'. The free of charge publication is possible.
